AMBLER PLAYS GOOD GAME.

For Some Reason Barker Was Used in the Box.

General Belief is that Ritchie Could Have Twirled a Winning Game—Ambler Coming Strong in All Repartments.

It is the same old story, that of Ambler being on the short end of a contest played at the week-end in the Montgomery County league. On all but one occasion have we been obliged so far as league games are concerned to tell the same story. Saturday's affair went to Doylestown by the score of 8 to 5, and like most all the other games where out-of-town men were on the hill the fault was in the pitcher's box. On Saturday, July 23rd, Ritchie, a local boy, was used in the box against Souderton and despiter the fact that this was his first league game and and on the enemy's grounds, he pitched a masterly game, and but for two unfortunate breaks in the game the best that Souderton could have expected was an even thing, according to the score. It was fully expected by a large number of the fans Ritchie was to go to the hill on Saturday against Doylestown, but to the surprise of many Barker, who played with Ambler for several seasons, was trotted out by Manager Amey, and Barker, like all other imported pitches, "got his," as they say in baseball.

In the first inning the visitors jumped him for two singles and two two base hits, netting them a lead of three runs. In the second and third sessions Barker got away with it all right, but in the next three frames only the greatest kind of fielding by his teammates saved him from being scored on. In the fourth both McMullin and Parker, who were first up, hit safely and both were neatly sacrificed to second and third by Blind, Martin making the play, while McCarraher covered first in retiring the batter. Bradley hit a wicked grounder towards second base, which was gathered by Captain McCarraher and the ball was shot to Edwards in time to head off McMullin at the plate, the latter, seeing that he was caught, tried to get back to third but was run down. Smyth closed the inning by going out on a fly to Martin.

Again in the fifth inning, after Power had struck out, the next two men singled. Edward once more saved Barker from being scored on. Wodock had singled in followin~ Power, and on the next pitch he started for second. Gear was at the plate and instead of trying to hit the ball he worked the bat up and down in front of Edwards interfering with the throw. It was dirty ball playing and unsportsmanship, to say the least. Wodock was called out for the interference by Duncan, who was umpiring the bases. Gear followed with a safe hit, and he also tried to steal, but was nipped at second. Johnson, in making the play, got the ball with one hand and like a flash put in on the runner.

In the sixth round more nifty fielding was shown by the local boys. Yeakle, Doylestown's big first baseman, lead off with a safe hit. McMullin smashed the ball into deep left center, which Baier gathered after a run. Parker then hit up a little fly well over the infield, but McCarraher was on the job and made a wonderful catch retiring the batter.

The visitors were retired in order in the seventh, but they broke lose again in the eighth inning and before the period was finished three runs were scored. Gear opened with a safe blow, but the next two batters were retired on flies, one to Edwards and the other to Maley in right field. Parker drove the ball hard well over towards second base McCarraher got over to hit it but it shot by him to center field. This is but the one misstep that could possibly be figured in the scoring of the visitors' runs. Had McCarraher been able to make the play the side would have been retired and Ambler would have had a chance to break even in the nine innings of play. Parker stole second and a moment later Blindt singled, scoring Gear and Parker and then to help his battery mate along Bradley hit the left centerfield fence for three bases, scoring Blindt. Forrest batting for Smyth flew out to Martin. Two more runs were earned by the leaders in the ninth session, and only for Martin, who made a wonderful play on Power at third, another run might have been chalked up for Doylestown. The latter began the inning with a single and Wodock followed suit. Gear then lay down a bunt which was fielded quickly by Martin and by a perfect throw to Scanlon retired Power at third. Yeakle's long safe drive let both Wodock and Gear score. In the local's half of the sixth period things began to happen that placed Ambler in a position to win. McCarraher open with a base hit. Sharkey lay down a perfect bunt and beat it out, then Scanlon came through with a hard drive to center for two bases. Cavis bunted, which Yeakle gathered, but missed tagging the batter as he was going first. Wodock was up covering first base and took the throw and at the same time, it is alleged by Cavis, was standing directly in his path, and as he neared him, Wodock raised his knee, catching Cavis below the hip. Whether it was done intentionally or not it put one of the best hitters for Ambler out of the game and possibly for the rest of the season, as he is badly injured about the upper part of his limb. To add to our misery the umpire said that Cavis ran out of line in going to first, therefore he was out. Barker fanned for the next out, but Baier came through with a single and a moment later stole second, but nothing came of it, as Martin's hot one was taken care of by McMullin at short and the batter was retired at first.

Despite the fact that we were five runs to the bad the locals kept up their fighting spirit and made a strong bit for the game in their final round. Barker led off with a single and Baier hit for three bases, scoring Barker. Power had to go back to the fence for Martin's long drive. However, he made the catch, but could not get Baier at the plate. The next two batters were retired in order and once more we were obliged to taste defeat. Nevertheless the home fans can have this consolation that Ambler has one grand fielding team and the club's battery is splendid also, but as stated above the fault is in the box. Captain McCarraher's work has been of the highest order, and in the last eight games he has accepted 44 out of 45 chances, and besides he has hit safely more than once in these eight games. Johnson and Scanlon are also new members of the team at short and third respectively and their work in the field and at the bat could hardly be improved on. Martin's illness has kept him from being the terror to pitchers that he was in the past two years. Martin's recovery will mean that Ambler will show to the rest of the teams in the league the greatest infield of the present season. Sharkey and Cavis just now are playing the greatest ball of their careers, and, with the kind of back stopping that we are getting out of George Edwards, Ambler's peppery young catcher, there is a lot to congratulate ourselves, despite the humble position we hold in the league race. With Ritchie on the hill, a dependable man in centre field and Baier in reserve, we may yet be able to make the race more interesting for the leaders. Next Saturday is an open date in the league, and the teams will play independent ball. Following is the score:

Contractor Stops Work on Street.

William A. Tracy ,of Plymouth township, who was awarded the contract by the borough to grade Eleventh avenue from Fayette to Maple street, Conshohocken for $797, on Friday stopped work on the street, declaring that he had been given a wrong estimate on the quantity of earth to be removed. Claiming a difference of over one thousand yards to excavate. The grading does not suit many property owners, who are protesting the depth the street is being cut to. It is understood that none has given the borough a release from damages. It is likely that a special meeting of town council will be called to straighten out the matter on both points.

Jones Co.'s textile plant also resumed operation on Monday after a shutdown.

No Clew to Kidnappers.

Thus far the police report no clew to the four men who attempted to kidnap Ida Baiser the 16-year old girl, of Philadelphia, who was on her way to pay a visit to the home of Harry Allamanski. The girl was walking along the Bethlehem pike north, of Springhouse when the four men drew up along side of her in an automobile. She was invited to take a ride. She refused and an attempt was made to force her into the machine. Her screams attracted the attention of Walter Hallowell and James Shields, who rushed to the girl's aid. When they arrived near the scene the car speeded away. Miss Baiser's clothes were torn and she suffered greatly from her experience. She was taken to the home of relatives when she received medical treatment. Corporal Shaver, in charge of the state police at Ambler, soon arrived and took charge of the case, but to date no arrests have been made.

FIGHT THE INSECT PESTS.

Arsenical Poison Best for the Potato Bugs.

Tobacco Extract Is Recommended For Plant Lice and Other Sucking Insects—Effective Application is Important.

Gardeners are warned by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture to prepare to combat the "little enemies of the garden." Insects of various kinds are making their appearance in vast numbers in gardens in all parts of the country and if left undisturbed will defeat the gardener's best efforts and lay waste the vegetable crops. This is the open season for insects and there are no laws which limit the number which may be killed. The department specialists urge the use of the spray pump and dusting bag for the frequent application of poisons in order to destroy the pests before they destroy the garden. Early efforts in fighting insects are most effective.

BUGS WITH BIG APPETITES

In most localities the Colorado or "hard-shell" potato beetles have emerged from their winter hiding place in the ground and are industriously depositing clusters of small yellowish eggs on the underside of the potato leaves. In a few days these hatch into little red, soft-shelled slugs or "soft-shells," as they are often called, that have most wonderful appetites, and unless poisons are applied they will soon strip the potato plants of their leaves. Other insects that have wintered over are also coming out and planning their campaign of destruction.

Perhaps there is no class of garden insects the method of attack of which is so insidious as that of the plant lice or aphids. Last fall, when there were literally thousands of these plant lice on late crops, the ants, in looking about for something choice for their winter larder, carried a number of these little aphids into their homes and kept them there for the saccharine excretion from their bodies. For this reason the plant lice have been called the ants' cows. Evidently the "milk" flow becomes pretty low toward early summer, for the ants, in doing their regular spring housecleaning, carry out the remaining plant lice and so start a new brood to prey upon plants during the summer.

At first a very few plant lice may be found hidden on the underside of the leaves of melons, peas, cabbage and other vegetables. A little later the leaves begin to curl up and to lose their color, and an examination will show that the "lice" which the ants carried out have become grandmothers, and the underside of the leaves will be literally alive with them, feasting on the juices of the plants. At this stage something must be done quickly, for whithin a few days there will be another generation or brood at work.

Arsenate of lead and Paris green have no effect upon this army of plant blood suckers and it is necessary to use contact poisons. A preparation must be used that will not injure the plants but will kill the "lice". The most common of these contact poisons is nicotine sulphate—a tobacco extract—made of tobacco refuse from factories. This is a poison and, to be effective in killing the "lice" without injuring the plants, must be used exactly according to the directions given on the container. United State Department of Agriculture Farmer's Bulletin 856, on the control of garden diseases and insects, has the following to say regarding the use of nicotine sulphate:

"For small garden plants 1 teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate should be used to 1 gallon of water, to which a 1-inch cube of hard soap should be added and thoroughly mixed. If a larger quantity is desired, use 1 fluid ounce to 8 gallons of water, with the addition of one-half pound of soap. Full directions are given on the covers of packages, and instructions accompany them.

SPRAY APPLICATION IMPORTANT

"In the use of nicotine sulphate the effective application of the spray is of the utmost importance since it is primarily upon this that the success or failure of the treatment depends. If the liquid has stood for any length of time it should be agitated thoroughly before use. The insects themselves must receive a thorough coat of the spray or they will not be killed, and immediate inspection after spraying should show the foliage occupied by the insects to be completely wet.

"Spraying should be done as early as possible, always on the first appearance of the insect, not only because it is good practice to keep the plants free from pests but because more thorough work can be done on small plants."

Hordes of other insects will be on hand to take the pleasure and profit out of the work of the home gardener unless a never-ending fight is waged to check their progress. The main point is to start the fight in time and kill the advance scouts and head of the main army of insect pests

Woman Wants Place in Congressional Convention.

The first Montgomery county woman to become a candidate for election to an office of great importance is Miss Emiline Henry Hooven, of Norristown. Petitions have been circulated for signatures to have Miss Hooven's name placed up the ballot for election as a Republican, to the position of delegate from this congressional district to the constitutional convention.

Three delegates will be elected from this the Eighth district, which includes Bucks and Montgomery counties. Each party will place two names on the ticket, and the three receiving the highest number of votes will be elected. In the past the post of delegate to constitutional conventions has been considered one of the highest honors which an electorate could bestow upon a fellow citizen. For the first time in the history of the state if Miss Hooven is elected a woman will sit at a constitutional convention.

Miss Hooven is eminently fitted having a wide experience in business matters and is a member of the Montgomery county bar, having practiced successfully for years. She is also active in the councils of a number of patriotic societies. She is vice regent of the Valley Forge chapter of the D. A. R. and is connected with the Daughters of 1812 and the Pennsylvania Society Colonial Dames of America.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigaretty aftertaste.

CUPID AVOIDS THIS CHURCH.

Only Three Weddings in New Britain Baptist Church.

Remarkable Record of Nearbv Edifice Which Has Had for Many Years a Large Congregation—Has Noted Place in Nation's History.

In the history of many an American church can be found much that strikes one as uniquely interesting. This is particularly true of those linking back to Colonial days. Their walls are tapestried with shadows wherein lurks both the herioc and the romantic limnings of that interesting period immediately antidating the Revolutionary War and which projects itself through the seven years when the destiny of America was being fought out with flintlocks alon~ its eastern hillsiders.

One visits them setting back in some high-backed pew pictures the people who once occupied them and the part played by the sanctuary, and comes away better qualified to appreciate the spirit of the American ancestry that resulted in the founding of the Republic.

But among all of the old American churches can one be found with any such an unusual history as is possessed by the old Baptist church crowning the hill here on the outskirts of the town? It is unusual for this reason. In the past 176 years, during which time the church has been constantly active, there have been but three weddings taking place before its altar. Locally it is insisted that no other church can produce such a record.

When the first wedding in the church occurred, or who the contracting parties were, the records available here do not disclose. It occurred, however,, so traditions insist, during the Revolutionary period. The second nuptial event took place a century later when, on February 16, 1893, Miss Alice Scott became the bride of Henry Clemens. The last to be celebrated occurred October 13 of the present year, when Miss Marion Louise Wood and William Clifford Weiger, the later of Detroit, were married by Rev. Dr. E. H. Haines, of Doylestown.

There was a reason for the latter wedding being solemnized there. In the history of the church it is chronicled that during the period between 1867 and 1871 the pulpit was filled by Rev. William M. Whitehead. It seems that Rev. Whitehead was thegrandfather of the bride, whose family maintain a country residence there at Hillside. The wedding was decidedly a social event, marked by the attendance of more than a hundred guests, principally from Philadelphia. An elaborate reception followed at he Wood country estate. Locally it was an event which will long to be remembered for it is accepted as a happy augury convincing the country side that after all cupid had gotten over his grudge and that hereafter the church will be more in his favor.

Why there should have been but three weddings in the church during 176 years no one seems able to explain. In all eastern Pennsylvania there is no church more picturesquely located nor one about which there has gathered an atmosphere more suggestive of antiquity, than about the two storied spire topped building with its high-pitched roof and time stained walls.

From its place on the crest of the ridge it looks off ver a country of verdant fields into stretches of woodlands that, due to the lateness of the season, are still wearing their summer garb. Down the slope of the hill lays the little graveyard with its hundred or more white marble markers arranged in straight lines, suggestive of a disposition to marshal the sleepers in orderly array. One seeking a specific grave need not know more about it than that it is so many removed from either end of the row to locate it. Facing the church is a dense growth of trees, some of them seemingly as old as the church itself. They stand in the yards of the homes that are but a few steps removed from the edifice, or in the churchyard itself.

Seen through their tops, and thus one views the church who approaches from the railroad station a quarter-mile distant along a road that slowly leads to the crest of the ridge, and the effect is as picturesque as is to be noted in connection with the surroundings of country churches anywhere in the Old Colonies, with which its founding is identified. Surely in the setting there is everything which should have appealed to Dan Cupid, and yet that unrulable little deity has consistently overlooked the whole inviting prospect as though he really had a just cause for grievance.

But in the history of the church nothing is discoverable to justify any such atitude on his part. Among the families which have comprised the congregations of more than a century and a half there has been the usual giving and taking in marriage. Never has there been a time when an officiating clergyman was not available to perform as many wedding ceremonies as the exigencies of the movement demanded. Always has the church been available and open except during a brief period of the Revolution. So there is nothing in the local situation to explain the unique circumstance but three wedding ceremonies having been formed within the edifice during more than a century and a half. Now that the spell has been broken will Cupid look with greater favor on the old church and include it in his plans? Time alone will show.

The New Britain Baptist Church was organized November 28, 1754. It traces its foundation back to 1700, when a few families from Wales located in Bucks and Montgomery counties. Most of these families were Baptists. The mother church of the district was organized in 1719 and known as the old Montgomery Church. But as early as 1730 the New Britain Baptists had become quite numerous and began the practice of holding services at private homes, attending the church at Montgomery only on communion Sundays. Naturally the holding of these separate services tended to create a demand for a more centrally located church.

The First Baptist meeting house was built there in 1744 and was known as the Society Meeting House. There the congregation worshipped until 1754 and in 1775 was admitted into the association as an independent congregation. The first pastor of the church was Joseph Eaton, who officiated between 1742 and 1749. All told during the past 176 years twenty-two ministers have filled the pulpit, making an average of eight years for eac~ of the incumbents. The present membership numbers 158. The officiating clergyman is Rev. R. M. Hunsicker.

But if the surroundings of the church are pacific at present there was a time in its history when the worshipers carried their flintlocks with them and stood them conveniently handy in the corner of the pews. Those were the early Colonial days when hostile Indians were often in the neighborhood. Again during the revolutionary War it was customary to carry muskets when attending divine worship and not infrequently there were enough armed men within the walls of the church to have defended it successfully from any assaulting party of British soldiers which might happen to be prowling through the neighborhood on the Sabbath morn.

An interesting chapter in the church' history deals with its functions when acting as a monitor. In the early days it did much to regulate the conduct of its members aside from its direct relationship to the church. In 1800 for breach of the Sabbath men were brought before the church, and unless they repented they were debarred from Holy Communion. In 1801 one was brought before the church because he refused to pay a bill and was generally quarrelsome. In 1803 a woman who had become an active scandal monger was excluded after having been brought before the church. The most frequent cases brought before the church involved charges of drinking. In these instances a committee was appointed to keep tabs on the offender and if he persisted in his habits of over-indulgence he was expelled. As a matter of fact the church seems during the early part of the century to have exerted a decided moral influence over the residents here, for it made itself so far as possible a part of the home life of its members.

Another interesting episode in the history of the church is seen in the observance of a day of thanksgiving began in 1810, years before a national Thanksgiving Day had been definitely fixed upon.

Balks at Taxpaying.

A woman who would rather "live in Germany under a monarchy" than pay such taxes as are imposed upon her here coughed up the required amount at the County Treasurer's office.

She was old and declared she had a right to her say.

"I don't vote and don't think women ought to pay for voting. They ought to be home in the kitchen," she told Clerk E. M. Harry.

"I just came from City Hall, where I paid taxes for a lot of things I don't understand. Now they tell me I have to pay school tax, too," she mumbled as she produced $2.10 for county uses.

There passed through Ambler on Thursday morning two young men in a Ford runabout who had left Boston, Mass., last year for Los Angeles, Cal. and after remaining there over the winter had left Los Angeles on June 3 for the return trip, on the last lap of which they were when they reached Ambler. Despite its more than 6000 miles the Ford car was in good condition and showed the drivers had taken most excellent care of the machine. From Ambler they were directed to Willow Grove.

Ambler won another twilight game last Wednesday evening. This time it was Nicetown which fell a victim to the prowess of the local club. The score was 4 to 2. Once more Ambler's infield gave a wonderful exhibition of fielding, and more than one hit was turned into an out at first by the splendid work of the infield. After the game more than one fan remarked that if Ambler had the infield all season it now has, there would be a different league story to tell at this time. There is no doubt but that McCarraher, Johnson and Scanlon came very near being the three best infielders in the league. Captain McCarraher has made a wonderful fielding record during the last four games by accepting 37 chances without an error. Baier pitched for Ambler and did good work. He held the visitors to three hits and no runs in eight innings, and only for the darkness, which settled quickly after Ambler had its bat in the eight, Nicetown would have been blanked. Douglass played right field and in the eighth inning he was "Johnny on the spot" when he hit between short and third on the hit-and-run play, scoring two runners. Previous to these two tallies Ambler had scored one run in the fifth and sixth periods. The crowds on Wednesday evening are increasing, and at this game there was a good side turn-out of the fans.

There is little or no interest, thus far in the coming primaries to be held next month. The only evidence of activity is the campaign is the furthering the candidacy of Dr. Mary P. H. Hough for the school board. The two members of the board, whose terms expire are George Y. Styer and Philip Maas. It is seldom that a board is favored with two such efficient men as Mr. Styer and Mr. Maas, and just now when there is a proposition afoot for the erection of a new high school building. Because of their knowledge of conditions in the school and Ambler's needs as to added facilities their return to the board is an evident necessity. To defeat either of them at this time will be nothing short of a calamity to our schools. There is no question that the women League of Voters of the has been ill-advised with regard to the necessity at this time of favoring a change in the board's personnel. It is said that one lady who is considered a leader of the above organization [illegible] election of one of their number is unanimous that the Republicans will be back of their candidate. If such a statement were made to the ladies it was certainly a mistake, it is misleading. It is safe to say that when the committeemen of the borough and their workers get together the indorsement of Messrs. Styer and Maas will be made without a dissenting vote. The writer has but one suggestion to make to the mem-bers of the Women League of Voters and that is that they first ascertain who the responsible Republican workers of the borough are, and then consult with them. If this is done there never will be any friction. The Republicans of Ambler have an organization, of which Mr. R. V. Mattison, Jr., is chairman, and it is before this body that the names of the several candidates will be presented and acted upon, and the best interest of our borough will be taken into consideration in selecting candidates.

Charles Astle, Harold and George Kerper, whose ages range from 11 to 13, while picking blackberries on the Burgess place one day last week, were arrested by the Cheltenham police on complaint of Burgess on the charge of trespassing. The boys, it is said were taken to the Cheltenham police station and later were given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Comly, at Glenside. A fine of $5 and the cost of prosecution, amounting to $25.-50 in all were imposed. The parents of the boys allege that the arrest is an outrage, inasmuch as the boys had never been given warning nor had they seen any signs displayed, as required by law.

A heavy hail storm passed through this section Sunday afternoon.

FLOURTOWN.

L. G. Dager, who underwent an operation at St. Joseph's hospital some time ago, has sufficiently recovered to return to his home, where he is now improving nicely.

The Flourtown Fire company will meet this Thursday evening, and all members are urged to attend, as there will be a report of the committee on carnival and the new property committee.

A Ford car belonging to a party at Ambler upset Saturday evening while opposite Mr. Trump's property, on the pike. The machine was badly damaged and was allowed to remain here for some time. Then the chassis was taken away and the body left lying on the road side.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilson Stahlnecker have returned from a delightful week's sojourn in the mountains.

Mrs. S. S. Cassel, who underwent an operation in St. Joseph's hospital recently, is reported to be improving nicely.

There is no doubt, if all reports are true, that the police will shortly have to take a hand in preventing the reckless driving of automobiles over the newly rebuilt pike. It is a common thing to see machines being driven through here at a great rate of speed, and last Friday evening some of our residents witnessed a race between two cars. Under the present method of handling violators of the motor vehicle law by the automobile division of the state highway department any reliable citizen may make the complaint direct to Harrisburg. Action is then taken in such a manner as to leave no doubt in the mind of the violator that he will be up against it if he is again reported, and his license is likely to be revoked.

Miss Helen Mutchmore is spending some time in Sellersville as the guest of her sister.

The opening of the pike north of the railroad crossing was the cause of much rejoicing among drivers of vehicles. The detouring during the time the pike was being rebuilt caused a great deal of inconvenience and much expense, especially to owners of automobiles.

Samuel Johnson, who was reported to be critically ill last week, is somewhat better at this writing.

Local contractor, H. A. Clark, has some of the material on the ground for his new garage, which is to be built of hollow tile.

William Doyle, clerk at Springfield hotel, has returned from his vacation.

Richard Moore and family enjoyed a motor trip to the Pocono mountains over the week-end.

The service water pipe running into the Yost property bursted one day last week and was repaired Monday.

James Lynn and wife, of Carversville, Bucks county, are spending some time here as the guests of Mrs. Anna Gilbert and Mrs. Ambrose Yeakle.

Quite a number of our residents visited Willow Grove park on Sunday.

Holy communion will be celebrated next Sunday morning in Springfield Presbyterian church. Preparatory service Wednesday evening.

The members of Flourtown camp, Patriotic Order Sons of America, are making arrangements to hold their annual ice cream and watermelon festival Saturday afternoon and evening, August 13. The event will be held on the lawn of Robert McCloskey, Bethlehem pike, below Wissahickon avenue.

Rev. A. F. Lott, pastor of Springfield Presbyterian church, will leave on a month's vacation after next Sunday's service.

Great progress is being made with the new barn on the property of the the Erdenheim Stock farm, which will take the place of the one destroyed by fire last fall. A new stable will shortly be erected on the property at the corner of Stenton and Wissahickon avenues as will also a $7,500 silo, which will be constructed of glazed hollow tile. Much of the material of the two latter jobs is already on the job.

The Ladies' Aid society of Springfield Presbyterian church will hold its annual picnic next Saturday afternoon on the lawn of Robert Bisbing, Wyndmoor. All members and friends of the society who intend enjoying the outing are requested to go to the trolley depot at Erdenheim, where they will be met by coaches at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Carl Weber, widow of Carl Weber, prominent artist of Philadelphia, who is making her home with her daughter, Mrs. G. Leslie Dager, is growing stronger and will be glad to see any of her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harner, Mrs. Catherine Burke, Mr. and Mrs. John Harner, Anna G. Fillman and Rev. M. L. Hocker attended the community picnic held on Lukens' meadow at Cold Point. Rev. Mr. Hocker acted as one of the judges of the sports, assisting Rev. E. A. Chamberlin, of Barren Hill Lutheran church, who had charge of the various sports, which added so much to the pleasure of the day.

Regular services at Zion Lutheran church next Sunday. Sunday school at 9.30 and preaching service at 10.45 a. m. The Zion Gleaners Sunday school class will hold its picnic on the parsonage lawn Saturday afternoon, Aug. 6th.

Bergeys Hold Reunion.

More than 500 persons, mainly from Eastern Pennsylvania and Philadelphia, were present at the twentieth annual reunion of the Bergey Family Association, in Menlo Park, Perkasie.

The association is composed of direct descendenats of Hans and Ulrich Berge, who came to this country from the Palatinate aboute 1732 and settled in what is now Montgomery County. Today more than 3000 persons are entitled to membership in the association.

The program included the informal reception of members, the family dinner and the business conference. A memorial service for members who died during the year was conducted by the Rev. Dr. William Barnes Lower, of Logan. Addresses were made by John Faber Miller, of Chestnut Hill, and Henry G. Landes, of Philadelphia.

No Pay for This Transcribing Job.

E. D. Condit, official stenographer for the Montgomery county courts, has been notified that the county commissioners will not approve payment of his bill for transcribing testimony in the coroner's inquest on the death of Edward Foley, at Ardmore.

In a letter to Mr. Condit, President Roy A. Hatfield says that there is no authority in the law for payment of the bill, although it is claimed that similar bills were paid before without question and upon the approval of the district attorney's office.

GWYNEDD VALLEY.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stoler are spending a week at Baltimore, Md., and at Waynesboro, Pa.

Farm Bureau Picnic.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the Annual Farm Bureau picnic at Memorial Park, Schwenksville, Aug. 10, looking forward to a larger attendance than last year is making preparations for handling the crowd.

A good band will be engaged to dispense music during the day. E. K. Hibshman, of State College and Judge John Faber Miller will give short talks on timely topics. Both of these men will have a message well worth hearing.

A number of business men are again expected to be on hand with a display of various lines of farm machinery and conveniences. As the space in keeping cus such as are not desirable.

A parking charge will be collected from all automobiles, the proceeds to be applied toward the expenses for the occasion.

The park in under new management this year and quite a few improvements have been made and others may be completed by the day of the picnic

Conshohocken Firemen Active.

The Washington Fire company, Conshohocken, is soliciting bids for the erection of a hose tower at the west corner of its building.

The tower will be about sixty feet in height and constructed of brick to match the material used in the present structure.

This improvement will furnish a modern means for drying the hose after it has been used at a fire. The method of laying the hose on the pavement has been unsatisfactory, shortening the life of the hose to a considerable extent.

The tower will be fitted up with an attachment on which can be placed hundreds of feet of hose, and which can then be drawn up. The hose will be left hanging in a vertical position until it has become thoroughly dried and then be placed in the apparatus, so that other hose can be straightened out, thereby preventing it from becoming cracked and rotted.

The tower plans and specifications can be seen in the fire house at any time.

—The deposits made in the Cornwells State bank on the first day of business totalled $22,000.

As a piece of information
To the people 'round about
Children of each walk and station,
Happy infants, lean and stout,

Are engaged thru torrid weather
In a play, with active minds,
And each morn they get together,
Showing skill of different kinds.

Those who plan and work there daily
From the hours of nine to twelve,
Are the loving souls who gaily
Use the talents others shelve.

Keep the little fingers busy
And the lips from speaking guile,
Innocent and very quizzy,
Joyful, singing, too, meanwhile.

'Tis a good and noble action,
Keeps the children off the street
And it gives such satisfaction
To the teachers whom they greet,

Pasteurizing Plant Barred at Wyncote.

A milk pasteurizing plant is an "offensive occupation" in the sense that it violates a building restriction prohibiting such in a purely residential section of Montgomery county such as Wyncote. Judge Miller handed down a lengthy opinion in an equity proceeding by Guy C. Whidden and sixty-one other residents of the village of Wyncote to restrain William F. Haas from constructing a milk pasteurizing plant within the confines. Judge Miller granted the injunction, contending that "A man is entitled to the free use and comfortable enjoyment of his dwelling house. He may instist upon a de gree of quietness consistent with the standard of comfort prevailing in the locality in which he dwells. If his neighbor makes such a noise as unreasonably interferes with his use and enjoyment of his home, so as to cause serious annoyance and disturbance, the occupier of the dwelling house is entitled to be protected from it."

TOWN TOPICS.

William M. Houston, a former resident of Ambler and a son of Frank Houston, is a director of the newly organized Chestnut Hill Trust company. He resides in Mt. Airy and is connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

Samuel T. Godfrey, of Lindenwold Terrace, who picked his first garden peas May 30, and his first ripe tomato on June 29, has recently gathered three tomatoes from his prolific garden which balanced the scale at three and three-quarter pounds.

A reliable, dependable, easy running, easy riding, economical in gasoline, oil and assuring long life to tires—such is the car you are looking for. I beg to call your attention to the Buick. Examine it critically, ask a Buick owner and let me demonstrate its many commendable features. —Rudolph Speelmoffer, agent. adv

The excess of heat over the normal since Jan. 1, has been 1000 degrees. With the mild winter, the summer—like spring and the long spells of torrid weather during June and July, the excess heat has piled up tremendously, so that already a cool fall and a frigid winter are prophesied. The summer has been characterized by insufficient precipation, with heavy, cyclonic storms, many of them local and a few of them confined to very small sections. The mornings have usually been cloudy, with the torrid sun later breaking through the clouds, causing a very humid condition conductive to sunstroke and heat exhaustion. With general unrest, domestic and foreign affairs disturbed, political and commercial matters upset, the weather seems to have followed the general post-war tendencies to the unsettled, abnormal and unusual conditions.

Tuberculosis Treatment at Eagleville.

The artificial pneumothorax operation and all of the system used in the treatment of tubercular persons at the Eagleville Sanatorium for Consumptives was demonstrated to fifty Philadelphia physicians by Dr. A. J. Cohen, medical director of the institution.

Leaders in the fight against tuberculosis in other parts of the country also went to Eagleville, which is four miles beyond Norristown. The institution is non-sectarian and is absolutely for the poor.

There are two qualifications for entrance according to Dr. Cohen.

First. The patient must have tuberculosis.

Second. The patient must be poor that he cannot pay for treatment.

"Those who have sufficient funds to pay for treatment," the physician said, "are told to go elsewhere. This sanatorium is supported entirely by donation and endowments. We are here to care for the poor."

The visitors were taken on a tour of inspection over the seventy-six-acre farm and through the group of cottages and wards. They saw 120 patients in various stages of treatment. Some—the newcomers—were in bed. Others—those "taking the cure"—were lounging in steamer chairs on the broad porches of the cottages. Still others—those slightly advanced in health—were doing small chores. While others—the really convalescent—were out in the fields, tending the crops and in the huge barnyard taking care of 2000 chickens that supply the institution with eggs.

Then Dr. Joseph Turner, superintendent of the sanatorium, demonstrated the artificial pneumothorax operation. He operated upon to patients—one a girl of nineteen years and the other a girl of nine years.

In the operation nitrogen gas is injected into the diseased chest so as to cause the diseased lung to collapse and to be held as a fractured arm is held in splint. That stops the lung from functioning. It is kept in that state until it is completely healed. The theory is that allowing the lung to function has the same effect as the moving of a finger that is cut at the joint. The motion of the lung causes constant irritation of the diseased part.

Dr. Cohen opened the sanatorium in 1909, when he purchased seventy-six acres of land. He, with Dr. Turner, comprise the medical staff, and there are six trained nurses. The convalescent girls help in the nursing and are taught the practical side of the profession.

When the patients enter they are put to bed until their fever is reduced. Then they are placed in cottages where they lounge about in steamer chairs. As their strength increases they are put to small chores. At first they are allowed to exercise for fifteen minutes a day. That is increased five minutes a day until it reaches eight hours a day. Then they are put to work in the fields.

Doylestown Races.

All Bucks county amateur harness racing track records were broken at Doylestown, on July 23, at the matinee race of the Warminster Driving Club before 3000 persons when John R. Sprenkel's new bay gelding of Perkasie, driven by Sprenkle, went the first heat of the free-for-all in 2.09 3-4 and took the race by going the second heat in 2.15.

The track record for pacers was previously held by Madison Square, former Frankford horse, at 2.15. On July 4, Clifford Rurell's Darhyal, a trotter, went the mile here in 2.10. John R. completely outclassed the field. The Perkasie horse was purchased in Bay City, Mich., several weeks ago.

The time for the first half-mile in the first heat was 1.03, and the first half-mile in the second was done in 1.07. Laura Durbin and Major King, in the first heat, both did better than 2.14. Whipping drives and blanket finishes featured several of the races.

One of the best races of the afternoon was the class C. event, won by Penrod, driven by H. B. Wilgus, of Philadelphia, in 2.24 and 2.23 after a great race with Vernie V, a Doylestown horse. Penrod, at the start in the first heat, was ten lengths behind, and after a great race won the heat. After finishing last in class A, Al Bates, of Chalfonte, driving his bay gelding, Chum, won the race by taking the second and third heats in order in 2.23, after Gailworth won the first in 2.24.

Lysh Brinker, driving Guy McKinney, a Doylestown township horse, was thrown from his sulky in the second heat of class D when his horse tumbled. He jumped on his sulky and continued the race, but finished last. Laurel Mack, a Quakertown horse, outclassed the field, winning in straight heats.

Killed at Connaughtown.

Harry Sokolof, aged 50, of 2345 South Marshall street, Philadelphia was struck by a Pennsylvania train on the bridge spanning the Plymouth creek and the Plymouth branch of the Reading railroad, at Connaughtown, near Conshohocken. He died a short time later while on the way to Montgomery Hospital, that borough.

Paroled Man Leaves.

The local police were notified on Saturday that Lorni Cooper, colored, paroled to the County Home farm from jail, after having served about one-half of an 18-month sentence anent the charge of being implicated in the theft of automobiles, had taken French leave.

Cooper was one of three prisoners paroled for farm work. He was taken from Jenkintown on the occasion of his trial.

Say They Sold Liquor.

Michael Klempner, Max Spern and Peter Cohen, three young men whose homes are in Philadelphia and who lease and operate an amusement hall at Spring Mount called the "Oaks," were arrested by Constable Joseph Jefferies on warrants issued by Squire Wack of Zieglersville, charged with the illegal sale of liquor.

The defendants were given a hearing at the squire's office and furnished $500 bail each for their appearance at court. Information was furnished at the hearing to the effect that they sold near-beer and "hooch the latter at $7 per quart.

—Dr. Reg. H. Shoemaker, of Abington, announces the engagement of his niece, (Mrs. Alice F. Shoemaker Nattress to Mr. Ernest Marlatt Aldred, of Washington, D. C.

—Two horses that Mrs. Abram Steever, of Chalfont, was driving to a hay fork became unmanageable, dragging her and breaking her arm, before they could be stopped.

Thief Shaves Himself.

Early one morning recently a night prowler broket into the cellar at the home of Calvin O. Corgy on Lawn avenue Sellersville and helped himself to food. He breakfasted upon his loot under a cherry tree near the residence, the remains of his repast having ben found there the next morning. He took with him a number of bullion cubes and a small quantity of canned food.

The same thief entered the Frank Lightfuss barber shop at Main street and Branch avenue on the same night. He rifled the cash register containing about $2.50 in change. He shaved himself using a fine razor and a hair clipper in the process, neither of which he took along however. He gained entrance to the shop by way of the Maple avenue window. At the Corgy home he entered at a window also removing the entire sash.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is unquestionably one of the most successful medicines in use for bowel complaints. A few doses of it will cure an ordinary attack of diarrhoea. It has been used in nine epidemics of dysentery with perfect success. It can always be depended upon to give prompt relief in cases of colic and cholera morbus. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Every family should keep this remedy at hand. aug

Two Teachers Resign.

Miss Hattie Brinton, who has been a teacher in the first grade of the West Ward school, Lansdale, has resigned to accept a position as supervisor of the model school at Kutztown State Normal school.

Miss Evelyn Sigafoos, second grade teacher in the East Ward school, has resigned to teach at Doylestown. Her home is at Doylestown.

The vacancies to be filled at the Lansdale schools now comprise East Ward school, first and second grades; West Ward school, second grade; High School, teacher of French and Spanish.

The repair work recently directed by the school board at the East Ward school building has been started.

Has Never Seen Their Equal.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets for stomach trouble, biliousness and constipation off and on for the past ten years. I have never seen their equal yet. They strengthened my digestion, relieved me of headaches and had a mild pleasant action on my bowels. I take pleasure in recommending them" writes H. D. F. Parmenter, Cridersville, Ohio. aug

West Norriton Plans.

Leading citizens of West Norriton township are preparing to present, in the near future to the taxpayers, plans for becoming a first class township, the erection of a new school building and the establishment of its own high school.

It is pointed out that many matters pertaining to civic civic betterment can only be adequately handled by that municipal unit known in Pennsylvania as a first class township. Attention will also be called to the fact that the entire eight rooms of the consolidated school are now filled and that the population is increasing rapidly. The establishment of a two-year or three-year high school will also be stressed upon the ground that it costs the district a sound sum annually now to send pupils to the nearest high school, which the district is required to do under the law. In the last five years payments for this service by the West Norriton Board have increased from $360 per year to a little over $2,000, last year.

As for the present school facilities room must be provided within a year. This can be done in two ways. One is by building an annex to the present structure. In the opinion of many of the progressives, this would not be the best plan. There are many who think that a site should be selected somewhere south of the church and an entirely newbuilding erected. Thus the transportation of many pupils could be saved, as only those living in the upper end of the township would have to be conveyed. The savings effected it is claimed, by those interested, would pay off the bonds issued to build a new building in thirty years. The matter of the immediate purchase of a site for this purpose will be urged upon the tax-payers at once.

Last Thursday the regular semi-weekly clinic was held at Hoopeston and about 20 persons, were examined. Dr. A. J. Last week the pike, between Lindenwold avenue Ambler, and Chestnut Hall was opened for travel to the delight of the residents along this section and also to the traveling public. There is no doubt of the well recognized convenience because there was no road in the state that was being rebuilt was closed longer and remained longer in a wratched condition than the section above mentioned. Owner of automobiles were put to many hundreds of dollars expense in making detours the long time the pike was closed to travel. It is all over now and the public has a fine road to travel over. Because it is such a fine road it will not be long before we will hear tell of the speed maniacs taking their toll of lives. It is to be hoped that these fellows will be taught their lesson at once in order that the road may be made safe for the careful driver of an automobile. North of Ambler the work of laying the cement is being pushed forward and already quite a stretch is down, and it is likely the pike will be opened for travel between Springhouse Chestnut Hill before many weeks.

The headstone, which has been erected by her estate in St. Thomas cemetery, Whitemarsh, in honor of the late Mary Nash, is a beautiful tribute to her memory.
